

EDUCATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY PROGRAM

Program Requirements

Degree: Ph.D.

The Ph.D. in Educational Psychology at University of New Mexico requires a minimum of 90 credit hours. Students are required to arrange /complete both a comprehensive examination and a dissertation.

Table with 2 columns: Course Category and Hours. Rows include Required Core Courses (36 hours), Minor/Supporting Electives (24 hours), Additional Courses (12 hours), and Dissertation Units (18 hours).

Required Core Courses

Table with 3 columns: Domain, No., and Course. Lists various courses such as Principles of Human Development, Conducting Quantitative Educational Research, and Applied Statistical Design and Analysis.

Notes:

- It is strongly recommended that students complete EDPY 604 before taking EDPY 606. Students should discuss this with their advisor.
• A minimum grade of B- is required in each core course.
• The semester following the completion of 12 hours of coursework, the student, in consultation with the advisor, should select the Committee on Studies and develop a detailed plan (Application for Candidacy) for completing all degree coursework.
• The supporting area of study or minor consists of a maximum of 24 semester hours outside of Educational Psychology in a field complementary to the major.

For a complete description of the program requirements:

- o Educational Psychology Graduate Handbook on the o Educational Psychology Program Website

Updated April 2012